As the first institution of higher learning in Mississippi to earn a Phi Beta Kappa chapter, Millsaps College is known for its academic strength, spirit of community service and national-caliber faculty. Millsaps embraces the whole student in a living-learning environment, provides many international study opportunities and builds principled leaders and accomplished citizens.

With a bell tower overlooking the campus and the heart of Jackson, Millsaps College occupies 100 acres in the center of the city near its medical district, the trendy Fondren shopping area and the beloved Belhaven neighborhood. Founded in 1890, the college is consistently recognized as one of the country's best private colleges dedicated to undergraduate teaching and educating the whole individual. As a liberal arts college affiliated with the United Methodist Church, Millsaps is home to 1,200 students from 33 states and 18 countries.

With an average class size of 15, Millsaps is a place where intimate learning and creative expression are encouraged and supported by every facet of a student's education. Millsaps offers 34 majors and 35 minors, with the option of a self-designed major, along with multiple study abroad opportunities. The Else School of Management offers both master's of business administration and mater's of accountancy degrees.

The college's student-centered approach to education is expressed in distinctive programs including the Faith and Work Initiative, which encourages students to explore careers that engage and inspire them through internships with Jackson businesses and by giving serious thought to the meaning of work through special courses; Living in Yucatan Program, which allows students to study at the college's 4,000-acre biocultural reserve in Mexico; and, internship opportunities at organizations such as NASA, Nike, the FBI and Sotheby's. In addition, the college's medical mentoring program pairs pre-med students with local physicians to guarantee clinical experience — one reason why Millsaps students are accepted to medical school at a rate well above the national average.

On campus, Millsaps students join a close-knit community with opportunities to become involved in over 85 clubs and organizations. In addition, the college offers 18 men's and women's NCAA Division III varsity athletic teams. Men's varsity sports include baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, lacrosse, soccer, tennis and track and field. Women's varsity sports include basketball, cross country, golf, lacrosse, soccer, softball, tennis, volleyball and track and field. Millsaps scholar-athletes are just as competitive on the field as in the classroom — Millsaps has received Mississippi's Halbrook Award for the highest student-athlete graduation rate in the state 18 of the last 24 years.

Millsaps was selected as one of only 40 colleges featured in Loren Pope's Colleges That Change Lives. "The able and enthusiastic faculty has national rather than regional roots. Its members not only earned their academic spurs in the nation's top universities but have also taught in them. But they prefer to teach at Millsaps, a conviction that comes through loud and clear in just about everything they say," said Pope.
